WISCONSIN LEGISLATURE.

Manison, March 16. In the SENATE, a resolution, introduced by Mr. Hasleton, was passed, instructing

AMERICAN WATCHES! Appleton to exchange bonds with its bond To amend the law relative to assessment and collection of taxes.

To enable the city of Racine to re-adjust its bonded debt. A discussion was had over a motion of Sen. Crane to suspend the rules on a bill allowing the C. & N. W. R. R. to form some extensive running connections, which Snally resulted in sending the bill to the committee on incorporations. In the Assembly, a bill was introduced to create the 12th judicial circuit.

Mr. Graham, from committee on banks and banking, submitted a lengthy report accompanied with a bill amending the bank ing law.
The bill provides for central redemption, and provides that a certain amount of stocks shall be paid in to the bank comptroller to be retained as additional security, and oth-er amendments to the banking law. The bill was made the special order for Monday,

this bill was made and laid over until Mon

It is difficult to conceive what fearful bavoc this custom has made of human life. Some of its incidental ravages seem to de ly belief. It has at times entirely depopu lated immense districts. In modern as wel as ancient times, large tracts have been lest so utterly desolate that one might pass from village to village, even from city to city, without finding a solitary inhabitant. The war of 1756, waged in the heart of Europe left in one instance no less than twenty coniguous villages without a single man or The thirty year's war, in the 17th cen tury, reduced the population of Germany from 12,000,000 to 3,000,000 three-fourths; and that of Wurtemburg from 500,000 to 48,000 more than nine-tentha! Thirty thousand villages were destroyed; in many others the population entirely died out and in districts once studded with towns and cities, there sprang up immense forests.

Look at the havoo of seiges—in that of Londonderry 12,000 soldiers, besides a vast number of inhabitants; in that of Paris in the 16th century, 30,000 victims of mere hunger; in that of Ismail, 40,000; of Vienna, 70,000; of Ostend, 120,000; of Mexico, 150,000; of Acre, 300,000; of Cartherna, 200,000; of Carther 700,000; of Jerusalem, 1,000,000!

Mark the slaughter of single battles—at Lepanto, 25,000; at Austerlitz, 30,000; at Eylan, 60,000; at Waterloo and Quartre Bras, one engagement in fact, 100,000; at Borodino, 80,000; at Fontenoy, 100,000; at Arbela, 300,000; at Chalons, 300,000 of Attila's army alone; 400,000 Usipetes slain by Julius Cresar in one battle, and 430,000 Germans in another. Take only two cases more. The army of Xerxes, says Dr. Dick, must have amount ed to 5,282,320; and if the attendants were only one-third as great as common at the present time in eastern countries, the sum total must have reached nearly six millions. Yet in one year this vast multitude was reduced, though not entirely by death, to 300, 000 fighting men; and of these only 3,000 escaped destruction. Jenghiz-Khan, the terrible ravager of Asia, in the 13th century, shot 90,000 on the plains of Nessa, and nassacred 200,000 at the storming of Charasm. In the district of Herat, he butcher ed 1,600,000, and in two cities with their dependencies, 1,700,000. During the last twenty seven years of his long reign, he is said to have massacred more than half a million every year; and in the first four teen years, he is supposed by Chinese his-torians to have destroyed not less than eighteen millions—a sum total of 32,000,000 in forty-one years !

In any view, what a fell destroyer is war! Napoleon's wars sacrificed full six millions. and all the wars consequent on the French revolution, some nine or ten millions. The Spaniards are said to have destroyed in forty-two years more than twelve millions of American Indians, Grecian wars sacrificed 15,000,000; Jewish wars, 25,000,000; the wars of the twelve Casars, 3),000,000; and in all the wars of the Romans before Julius Casar, 60,000,000; the wars of the Roman Empire, of the Saracens and the Turks, 60,000,000 each; those of the Tartars, 80,000,000; those of Africa, 100,000,000; "If we take into consideration," says the learned Dr. Dick, "the number not only of those who have fallen in battle, but of those who have perished through the natural con-sequences of war, it will not perhaps be overrating the destruction of human life if we affirm that one tenth of the human race has been destroyed by the ravages of war: and according to this estimate, more than fourteen thousand millions of human beings have been slaughtered in the wars since the beginning of the world." Ed-mund Burke went still further, and reckoned the sum total of its ravages, from the first, at no less than thirty-five thousand millions. Southern papers begin to distrust the republicanism of their star chamber congress and complain of the constitution. section of article 2 provides that "the president and vice-president shall be elected by ballot by the states represented in congress each state casting one vote, and a majority of the whole being requisite to elect;" and section I of article 5 says "the congress may, by a vote of two-thirds, at any time alter or amend this constitution."-Now, there are six states in the confedracy, any four of which being a majority, will also constitute a two third vote, so that four states can change the entire government from a representative republic monarchy or whatever else is deemed best.

An Important Report.

The report from the school land commissioners to which allusion was made in our legislative synopsis Saturday is a startling one. It has been known, or at least generally supposed, that many of the loans from the school fund were very inadequately secured; and that large amounts had been given in fact to some party favorite miliating state of things. It makes repubunder cover of other names. But we think | lican blood boil to be reduced to this disthe public generally were scarcely prepared for such a disclosure as the report just that our government is weak and powerless made to the legislature reveals. The mode of investing the school fund is all wrong, if the system itself does not come under the same condemnation. The commissioners are now compelled to loan out these how even this capital can be protected if ten funds in small sums upon mortgage of real estate, and in most instances, as they state, to make these loans "to men of whose character and responsibility they know nothing, and upon security of the value of which they are entirely ignorant, excepting as they obtain information from the appraisal of men of whose judgment and integrity they have no knowledge whatever."

Under this mode of investing, it is not strange that the commissioners, even with the best intentions to do right, are sometimes imposed upon; but when the distribution of the fund is made a matter of political favor, with a view to political influence, who does not see to what hazards the fund may be subjected? The loan of a former commissioner, upon securities furnished by A. Hyatt Smith, is a striking illustration of the abuses to which the system is liable. A change in the system, which shall guard against such abuses or deceptions, ought to be made, and no more important subject can occupy the attention of the legislature, or engage the efforts of the commissioners.

We copy from the Madison Journal the following statement of the character of this important.report: The report proceeds to give some facts in regard to the practical operation of the present system. In 1858 there were forfeited to the school fund 49 mortgages, and to the drainage fund two, securing loans in the aggregate amounting to $$23,\overline{6}28$ 87.— The actual value of the lands at present does not exceed \$5,200. In 1859, there were forfeited to the school fund 102 mortgages, to the university fund 3, to the drainage fund 11. These were held by the state as security for \$51,811. The actual value of these securities does not exceed that sum on forced sale. The loss to these trust funds during the past year from forfeiture of mortgages is reported at not less than \$17,178, and probably much more, since, in obtaining information in regard to the present value of securities, the commissioners have been obliged to rely on the statements of the same persons who joined in the original appraisement. But even by the recent appraisements, exaggerated as they may be, an aggregate of \$64,643 has been lost to these funds.

Startling as these facts are, the commison worthless securities, because of the shame which would follow the exposure inppraised at nothing. These lots are covered with water several feet in depth.-Four loans of five hundred dollars each ($2,000 in all) were made in the years 1857 of La Crosse,* and security taken for three of them upon 'Cliffwood' outlots near that city, which, we are informed, are situated almost inaccessible by any human agency, and which are about worthless except as pasture for goats! The fourth is secured on wild lands in Jackson Co." The commissioners give it as their opinion that twenty-five per cent of that portion of the funds now invested in mortgages is ore trievably lost! There are loans from the school fund to William R. Smith and his near relatives, made when he was one of the school land commissioners, to the amount of $1,500, which are secured by mortgages on Kilbourn City lots, now appraised at only $250.

With the most careful management on the part of the commissioners more or less loss to the funds is inevitable, while under the charge of careless or corrupt men, the greatest facility for frauds exist under the present system. The commissioners close with an earnest recommendation for its total repeal, and the passage of a law directing these funds to be invested in United ates stocks or the stocks of northern

As a further illustration of the manner in which some of the loans have been made from this fund, the Madison Patriot gives the following case:-"On Oct. 1st. 1857, B. F. Hopkins received from the school fund, in the name of irresponsible parties, the sum of $2,300, on which is now due $2.588. These loans were secured in the names of Peter Coyne, $300; Wm. Fitzpatrick, $500; Matthias Wicks, $500; John Kean, $500. The commissioners refer to these transactions and the value of the loans now, as follows: in relation to Coyne, "mortgagor (Hopkins) good, seenrity probably good for loan. Coyne is irresponsible, lots worth $100." In relation to Fitzpatrick, "mortgagor unknown. Lots worth $100." In relation to Wicks-"Wicks irresponsible; lots worth $100."-In relation to Kean, "Kean is irresponsible; lots worth $100."" Such abuses of a sacred trust and evasion of an explicit law, (which prohibits a loan of more than $500 to one person,) are wholly indefensible, and we hope the present commissioners will give no cause of complaint by following so bad an example.

*Ex-Lieut. Gov. Campbell. On one of these loss papers is the following endorsement: "Granted at the convention, 1857, D. W. Jones, secretary of state," showing the manner in which cash was raised to conduct the campaign that year.

The La Crosse Appeal says the ice over the Mississippi river at that place is sufficiently strong to permit pedestrians to cross.

Editoral Correspondence From Washington. WASHINGTON, March 14, 1861.

The evacuation of Fort Sumter is the all-absorbing topic of conversation in political circles at this time. It is generally conceded that the cabinet has come to that conclusion-very reluctantly on the part of the President and some of his advisers: while there are others who do not regard it so much in the light of a "military necessity" as a stroke of policy to thwart the secessionists. What the exact state of the partison is has not been made public, officially, but it is said that Gen. Scott recommends the withdrawal of Maj. Anderson, because he has food and fuel for only fifteen days, and that there is no time or lawful interest to 7 per cent was indefinitely postpower to raise the ten or twenty thousand poned. men necessary to relieve him. This a hugraceful proceeding—this acknowledgment to protect itself from the machination of traitors. How will we stand in the eyes of the world? or where will be our own national self-respect after this? I do not see thousand enemies should march upon it from Montgomery.

The President's hands are tied fast by the non-action of congress and by the constitution, it is said. So they would be in defending Washington, should it become tion of Fort Sumter. He is not authorized, say our political doctors, to accept of a offered to him by the states. He must, therefore, fold his hands and allow the secessionists to complete the work of the destruction of our country, for fear he will stop a hair beyond the mark said to be laid down in the constitution. But it must be $1800 made in this city, for the benefit of remembered that the first law of the physical nature of every man is his own selfpreservation, and so I think it must be with governments. If its sudden destruction impends from causes which cannot be met in a legal way, according to ancient forms and ideas, it must strike out a new and vigorous path for itself, or die. Such, it seems to me, is the present alternative. The evacuation of Fort Sumter is acknowledging our national government inferior to the a do nothing Micawher policy, to give us ity.

Let congress then be summoned. If that fully hauling down the stars and stripes in the presence of the palmetto.

There are in my mind but two courses of policy in which there is any safety, and $22,870, and probably would not bring half | they are-either placing the nation on a war footing to put down with a strong hand the infamous traitors who are destroying our country, or the calling together of a national convention for the purpose of peaceably dissolving the Union. The conciliating, conceding policy will not win back the gulf states, nor save the border states. The former are irrevocably gone the moment Fort Sumter is surrenderedthe latter may possibly be saved by a show sioners say they show but a fraction of the truth. "We know," they add, "that the interest is now annually paid upon many loans force the laws. There can be no safety for the Union element of those states to rally cident to a forfeiture. One mortgage in around a government which cannot and Milwaukee is secured upon two lots that are | dare not protect its authority. Let us hope that a policy may be pursued that shall in some measure redeem the disgrace of the abandonment of Fort Sumter-a disgrace and 1858 to the wife, son, son-in-law and not attributable to Mr. Lincoln, but which, another relative of a prominent politician nevertheless, is humiliating to every Amer-

The cabinet is not united in ordering upon the side of a bluff, so steep as to be Maj. Anderson to surrender, if, indeed, they have done so, nor is public sentiment entirely in favor of it here. Many say if Anderson wants food, let him give notice to Gov. Pickens that he will bombard the city of Charleston if it is withheld. But it is feared, though scarcely believed, that Anderson is not altogether true. It is certain that his letters before the 4th of March declaring that he needed no reinforcements do not tally with the information received from him since that date that his men are starving. Perhaps he can explain this inconsistency. It will be incumbent upon him to do so.

> For your consolation in Wisconsin, I will say that it is snowing here to-night andhas been nearly all day. We have very sudden changes in the weather, generally giving us a touch of all the seasons during the week.

> A want of union in our congressional delegation in relation to appointments in our state causes delay, and may be the cause of the loss of several which will be given to other states.

The city is full of office seekers, many of whom are from the border states. The departments are busy in receiving applications and the President is greatly taxed to meet the demands upon his attention, made by gentlemen who are desirons of serving their country.

Gen. James H. Howe, whom I mentioned as an applicant for the Indian Superintendency at St. Paul, declines it.

An Extra Session of Congress.

The question of an extra session of congress is discussed by newspaper correspondents and newspapers, but without anybody seeming to know anything certain about it. We cannot expect to influence the decision of the question by anything we may say, but "the spirit moves us" to express the wish that the national legislature may be a necessity. He could no more do that immediately convened. If the new adminthan he can move to day for the preserve sitration is left in the helpless condition represented by its friends, then immediate and nositive legislation is needed to place volunteer, though a million of men were at its disposal the means necessary to protect itself and preserve the government .-If Fort Sumter must be surrendered to the South Carolina traitors because there is not power enough in the army and navy to re inforce and provision it; if the revenue cannot be collected on shipboard outside the harbors of the seceding states, on account of the provisions of the new tariff: or the hotbeds of secession cannot be closed as ports of entry, for want of adequate congressional authority, then it is high time something should be done to remedy these enormous and growing evils. According to present appearances, there is really no government; there may be, and is, the form of one, but there is no substance init. We have a President, whose seemingly sole southern confederacy, unless immediate and | power is to dispense offices to greedy applistrong measures be taken to enforce the cants; we have a cabinet which can deliblaws in all the rebellious states. It may be erate, but never act; we have a navy and said that the surrender of this fort is the army scattered in small fragments where result of the traitorous and imbecile policy they are not needed and disorganized by of Mr. Buchanan; and this is true, no treason and rebellion; we have courts withdoubt, but something must be done besides out jurisdiction, and judges without author body refuses to act, if treachery or timidity has so far infected the immediate representatives of the people that they are paralyzed, then let an appeal be made to the people themselves. At all events, let something be done. It is nonsense to talk of overcoming treason, or disarming traitors, by inaction. The surrender of Fort Sumter will be followed by a demand for the evacuation of Fort Pickens, and if the latter demand is refused, are we any nearer a return to peace than when Charleston harbor is fully abandoned to the miscreants who have demanded its possession? If the revenue cannot be collected at New Orleans or Sayannah, where is the guarantee that it will not be resisted at Norfolk or Camden? And if the border states are to revolt at the first attempt at coercion" in South Carolina or Florida, why may not Richmond become a Charleston or Harper's Ferry a Pensacola? True men, everywhere, must sustain the governernment in the exercise of its authority, without higgling as to terms, or the government is not worth preserving. BRECKINRIDGE'S SPEECH.—The telegraph o-day brought us the concluding sentence of Breckinridge's speech in the senate. A synopsis of the whole appears in last night's report. He regarded the President's policy as warlike, and tending to bloodshed. If there is any moderation, it will be because of his inability, and not because he would be willing to withdraw the troops for the purpose of producing conciliation and peace in the public mind.

The character of the cabinet (he said) was not such as to induce the belief that force would not be used. Every member except one is understood to favor coercion. if it becomes necessary, to reduce the south to subjection. The very organization of the senate, cantiously expressed by representatives here, show their purpose is to maintain the authority of the federal government over the withdrawn states, by force, if necessary. In the formation of the standing committees, there was scarcely a chairman, if any one of them, whose known opinion was not in favor of this policy.

LIEUT, SLEMMER'S OPERATIONS AT FORT PICKENS.-The Mobile Advertiser of the 9th, thus alludes to the important move recently made by Lieutenant Slemmer, in erecting a sand battery to the eastward of

Fort Pickens:
The sand battery defends the only land approach to Fort Pickens, which stands on he extreme western point of Santa Rosa Island. The island is some forty miles long, but very narrow, in some places beng not more than a third of a mile wide. The battery stands on a very narrow part of the island, and is an effectual outpost to prevent surprise from a storming force.

If we are to come to blows with Lincoln'. administration, we shall want to take Fort Pickens, and will try; and as we have no navy, and our batteries on the main land can only play at long taw with that powerful island fortress, which can more than hold its own at that game, and destroy any attacking force approaching in boats, the most feasible method of attack is to throw a powerful force on the Santa Rosa Island over from the main land acress a sound about half a mile, more or less, wide.— Once on the island, their programme would be to rush down on Fort Pickens, and take it by an overwhelming force.

We understand that Slemmer has taken every care and precaution in his power to strengthen his defences on the island side of the fort, and now we are advised that he has provided an outpost of defence; and is it be nothing more than a station for picket guards, it will answer the purpose of effectually preventing anything like a sur-prise. The island, however, affords the facility of making regular seige approaches by an attacking force, and yet this force could be excessively annoyed in the day time by the shot and shell of a squadron playing upon them in the flank from the gulf or bay. We hope the worst will not come to the worst, and that we shall get the fort easier than viet armis, but if we do not, this sand battery of Lieut. Slemmer's is a matter of interest, and will play a part of some importance in an attack on the only plan in which we can quickly gain possession of Fort Pickens.

J. H. Buening was, yesterday, elected chief engineer of the Milwaukee fire department. He received 250 majority over all. The whole number of votes was about five bundred.

UNEXPECTED DETENTION.—The steamer Milwaukee has not yet succeded in making a landing at Grand Haven on account of a new bar which has lately formed at the mouth of Grand river. Surveys are being taken with a view of finding a channel deep enough for the steamships to pass in.

A Pleasant Gathering.

Last evening a company of about fifty, including twelve or fifteen invited guests, assembled at the court room, to celebrate the anniversary of St. Patrick. The preparations had been quietly and unostentationsly made, but, as in other cases, where the right men go to work, every thing was done well and "in order." The table was sumptuously spread, cordiality and good feeling abounded, and the highest satisfaction was not only expressed but demonstrated by all the fortunate recipients of the favors of the warm-hearted Irishmen of Janesville. Michael F. McKey presided, assisted by John W. Allen as vice president. After full justice had been rendered to the many excellent viands with which the table was loaded, Mr. McKey opened a series of exercises which continued until midnight, with a wellwritten and appropriate address. Then followed regular toasts and responses, succeeded by "volunteers" and impromptu speeches and songs, which filled up the quick-passing hours, and which, combined, furnished one of the most agreeable entertainments ever given in the city.

We regret that we were unable to attend this gathering, to participate in its festivities and report its proceedings, but a week's experience with a "face-ache" which even a dentist's forceps is unable to cure, and which copious applications of Perry Davis' Pain killer only alleviates, convinced us that we should have made a poor "guest" and still poorer reporter. We have, however, beer furnished with the manuscript address of Mr. McKey, and a list of the quality selling at 10@1234c. Other stuff unchanged. regular toasts and speakers, which we shall publish to morrow. They came to us too late to be printed to-day.

Fire Department Bleeting.

A meeting of the members of the fire department of this city was held pursuant to proclamation by the mayor, for the purpose of nominating a chief engineer and two assistant engineers for confirmation by the common council, at the house of Washingson Engine Co. No. 3, on Monday evening, March 18th, 1861.

Mr. Cha's P. King, president of the de partment, called the meeting to order, when Wm. Addy and Wm. H. Sargeant were named tellers.

A formal ballot was then had for chief engineer with the following result-whole No. of votes cast was 143; of which Wm. B. Britton received 77, and Henry Hemming received 66.

Mr. Britton having received a majority of all the votes cast, was declared duly elected. A formal ballot was then had for an assistant engineer, with the following result -whole No. of votes 127; of which Wm. M. D. Birt received 70, and Mr. H. A. Robertson received 57. Mr. Birt having received a majority of all the votes cast was declared duly elected assisstant engineer.

Mr. Thomas Harrison was then, on motion of Wm. H. Ebbetts, declared unanimously elected an assistant engineer. On motion the meeting adjourned.

MISS DRESSER'S LECTURE.-We were in error yesterday in stating that Miss Dresser had been a member of the Mormon community. She went with her parents to Salt Lake when she was eleven years of age, and left with them when 14. Her father alone was a member of the community has alone was a member of the community, her mother accompanying him to watch over and protect her family. The lecture thi evening will treat of the character and history of Brigham Young, of which she has had ample opportunity in obtaining information during her residence at Salt Lake and since her departure from there. The Rockford News makes the following notice of the lecture delivered at Rockford : "She gave brief (and no doubt true) sketches of "Mormon life and society," and han-dled Brigham with kindly severity. His "eccentricities" were shown up in a hu-morous way which provoked laughter, and some insight was afforded into the peculiar institutions and the mysteries of the Mormon church. She held that Brigham had one great object in view, and that his life was devoted to its consummation—the subjection of the whole continent to the "Apos-tolic rule." A wild and visionary scheme, we apprehend, and one exceedingly difficult of execution. Brigham never used force to compel obedience from his followers, but appealed to their "religious" sensibilities. She did not hesitate to pronounce the whole Mormon system a delusion and a blighting curse, socially, morally and religiously con

He is also supplying his Quarry with Derricks to facilitate the handling and losding large stone, and is fitting up expensive wagons, carts and trucks, rigged with the most approved appliances for moving and delivering dimension stone of any size, from two to thirty feet square; and from six to twenty inches thick, or any required length up to one hundred feet, to any part of the cars.
